THE ANGELIC Form of my LOVE

a favorite Ballad

Sung by Mr. Incledon

at the Theatre Royal Covent Garden

in the Entertainment of an ESCAPE into PRISON

Written by J. C. Cross

Composed by W. REEVE

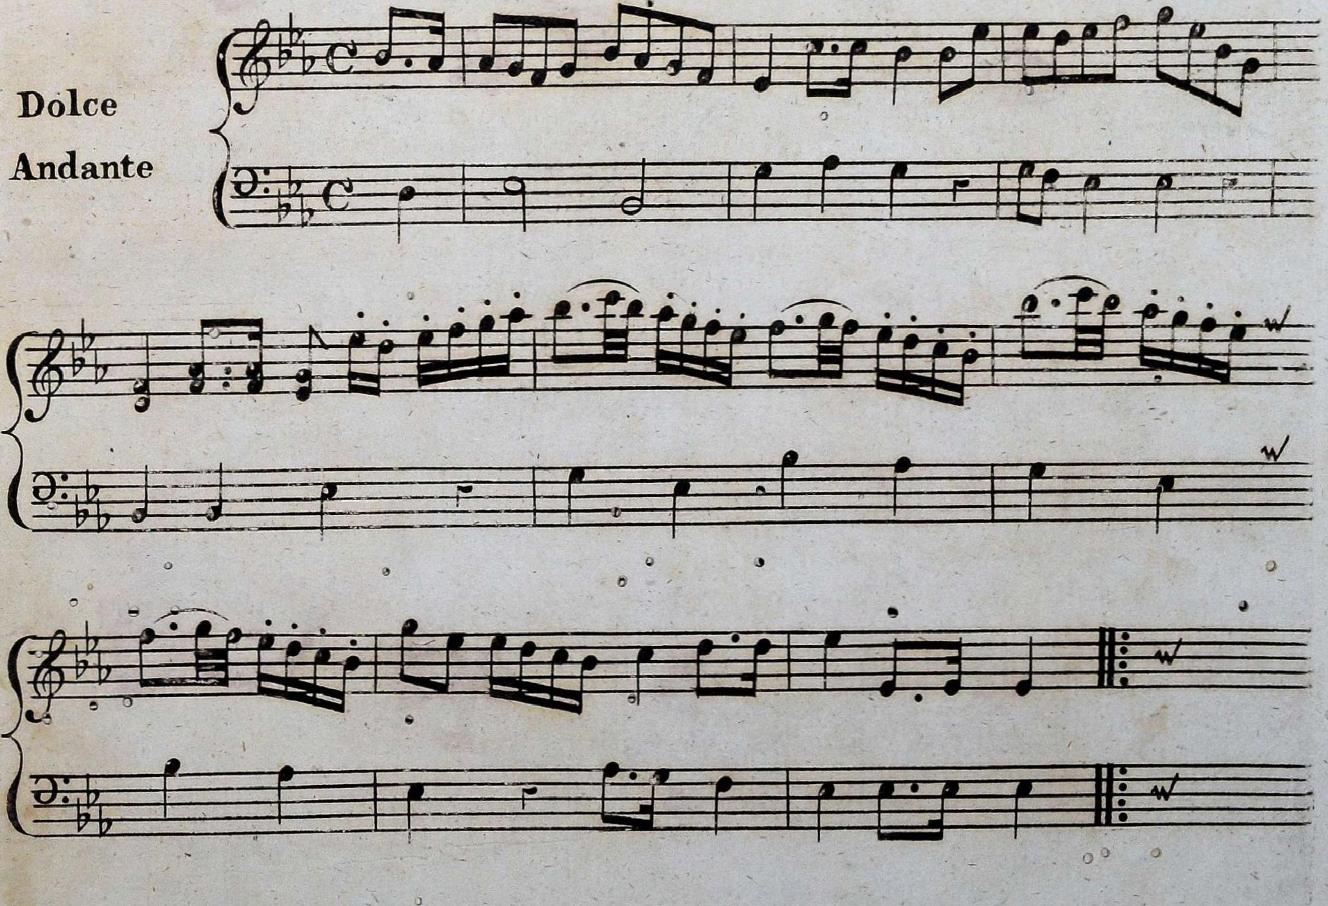
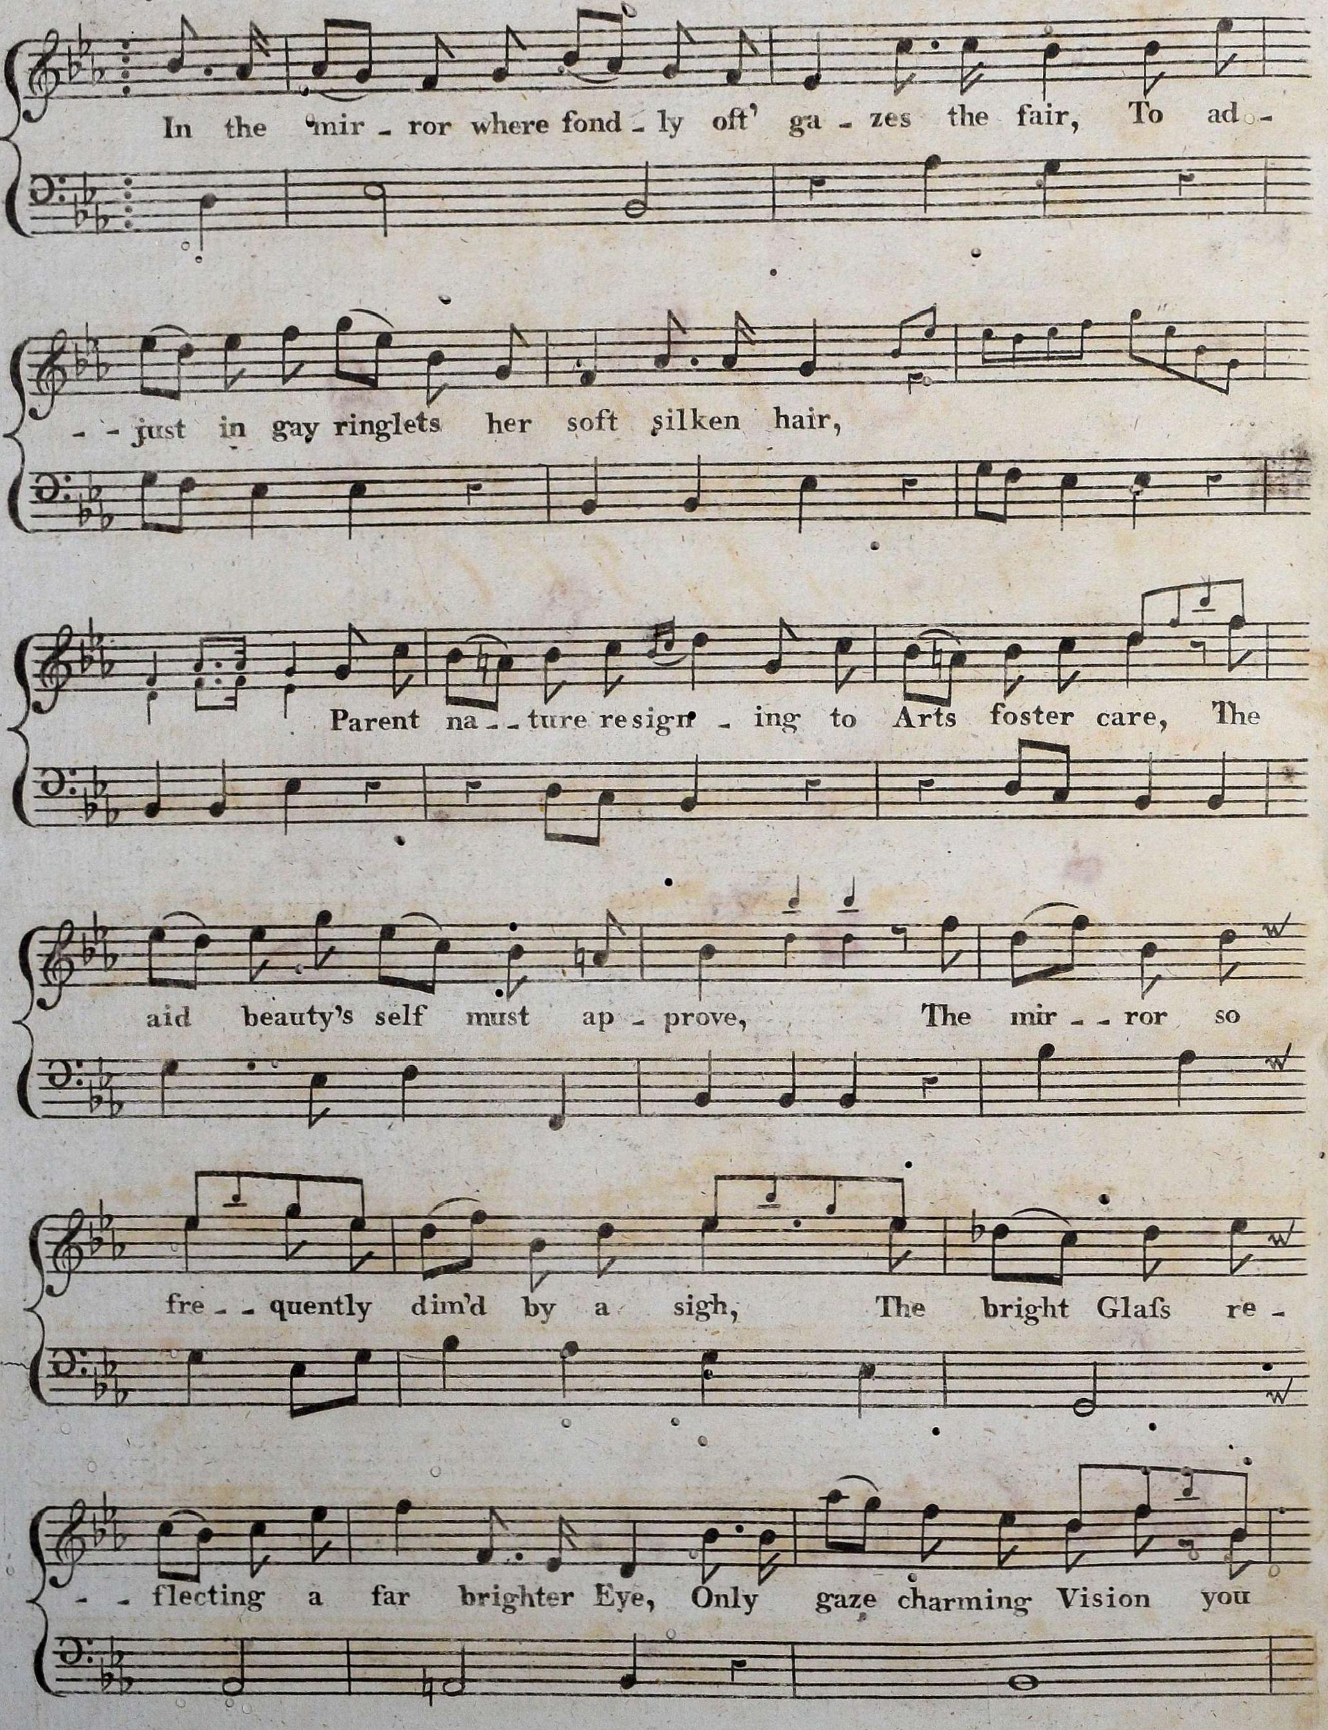
Entered at Stationers Hall. Price 1s.

Printed by LONGMAN and BRODERIP No. 26. Cheapside and 13. Haymarket.

Dolce
Andante





In the mir - ror where fond - ly oft' ga - zes the fair, To ad -
- just in gay ringlets her soft silken hair, Parent na - ture resign - ing to Arts foster care, The aid beauty's self must ap - prove, The mir - ror so fre - quently dim'd by a sigh, The bright Glafs re -
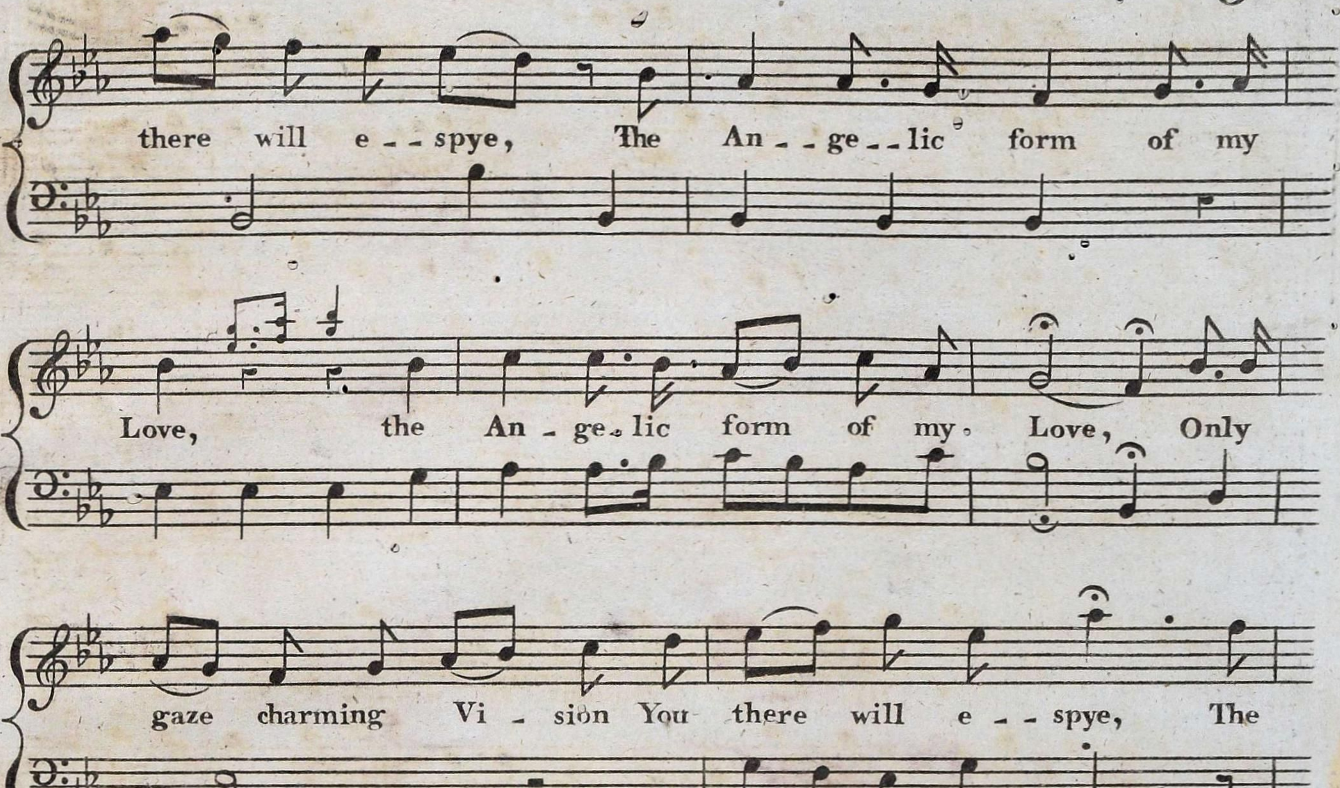
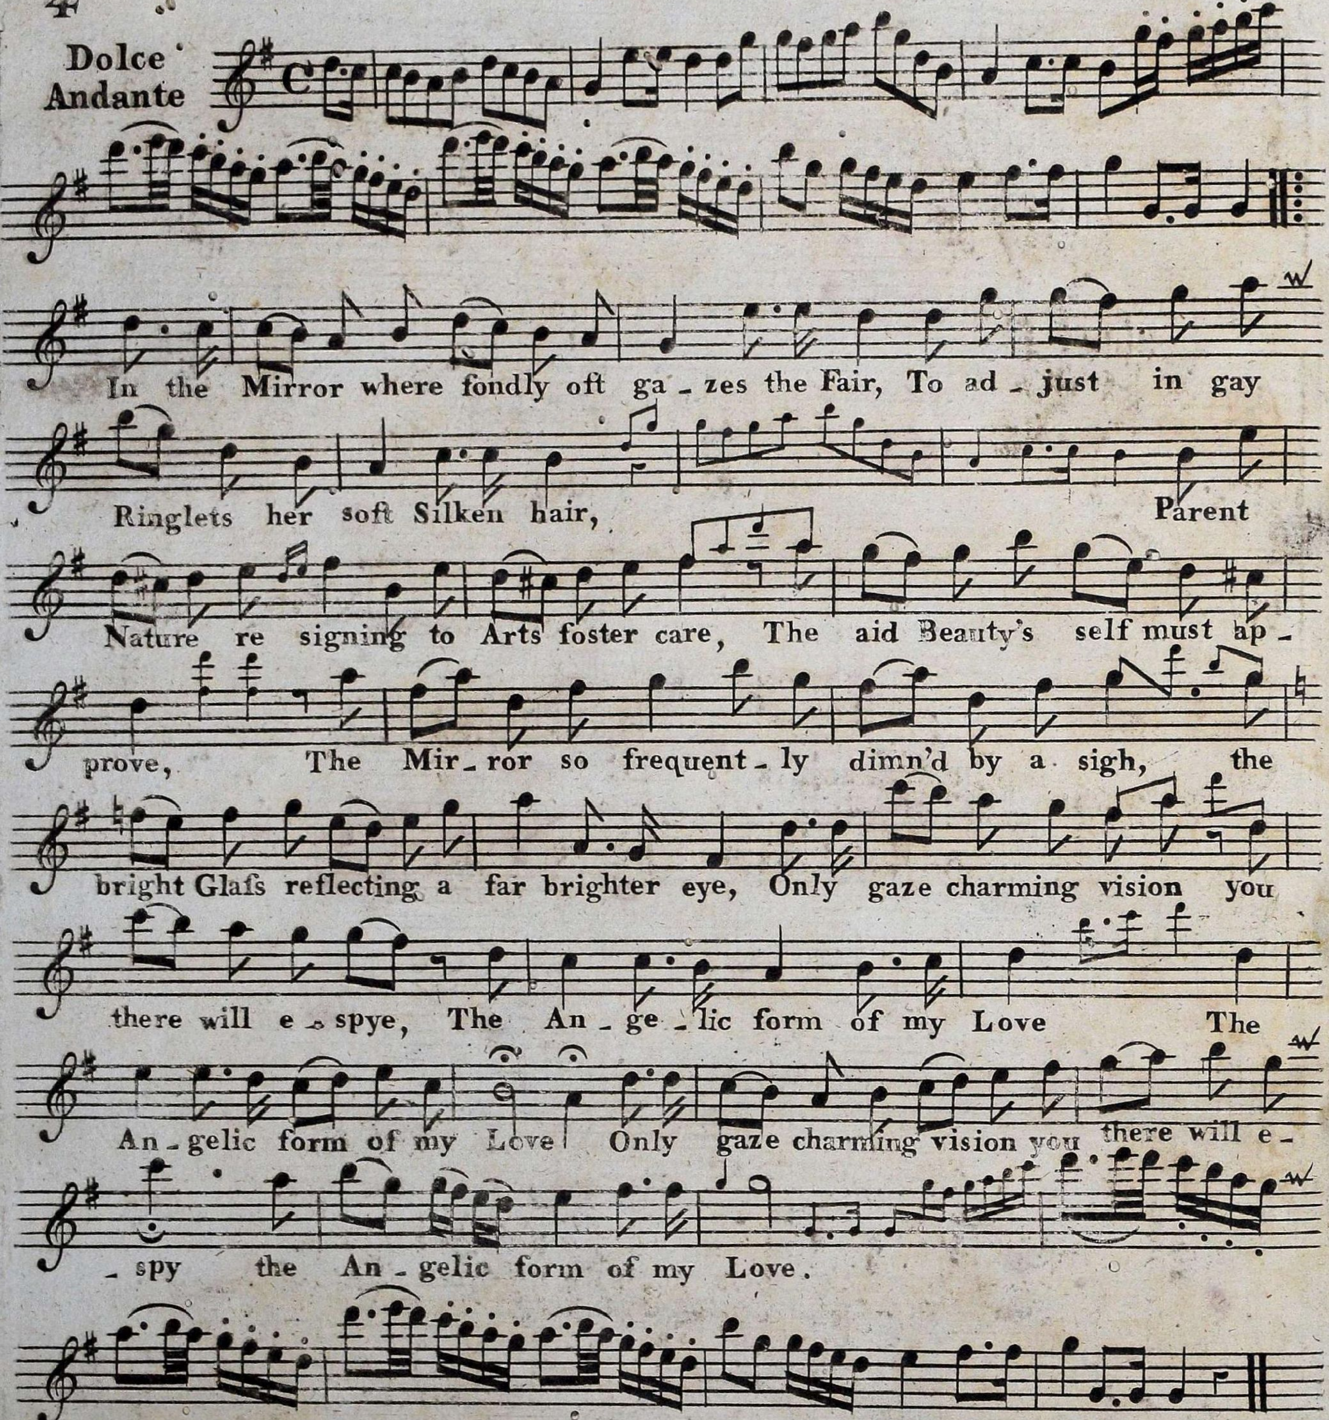
- flecting a far brighter Eye, Only gaze charming Vision you



2nd

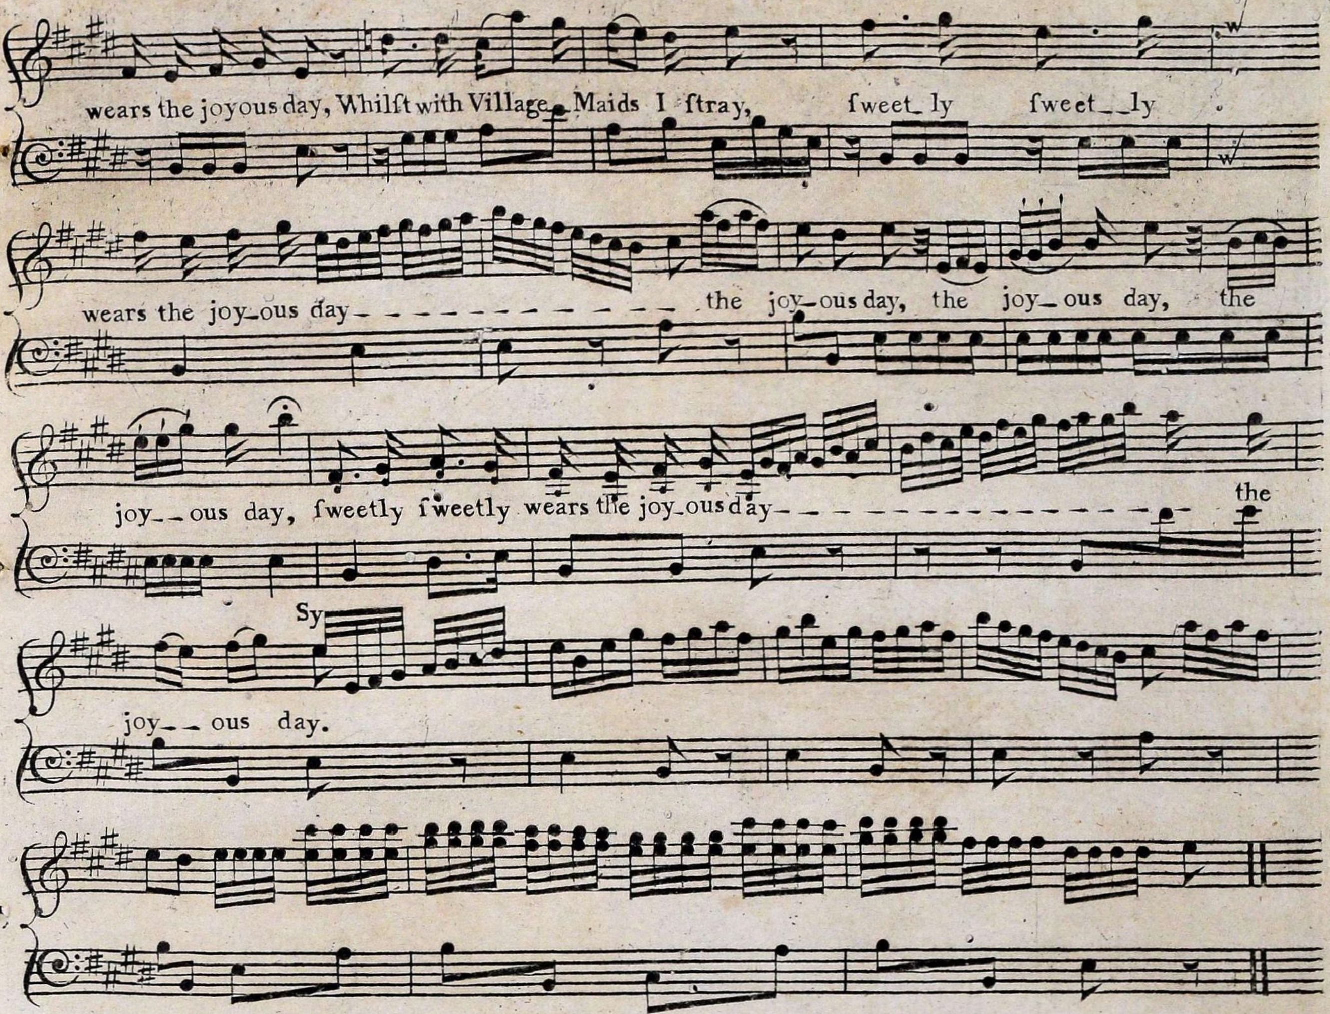
Or where Beauty wanders with slow pensive mien
Cool Zephyrs to woo, while the Nights Silver Queen
Or the Lakes buoyant bosom resplendant is seen
In Ripples disdaining to move
Inviting should solitudes charms be the Theme
Your footsteps might lead to the margins extreme
Only gaze and you'll view in the pure glaſsy stream
The Angelic form of my Love.

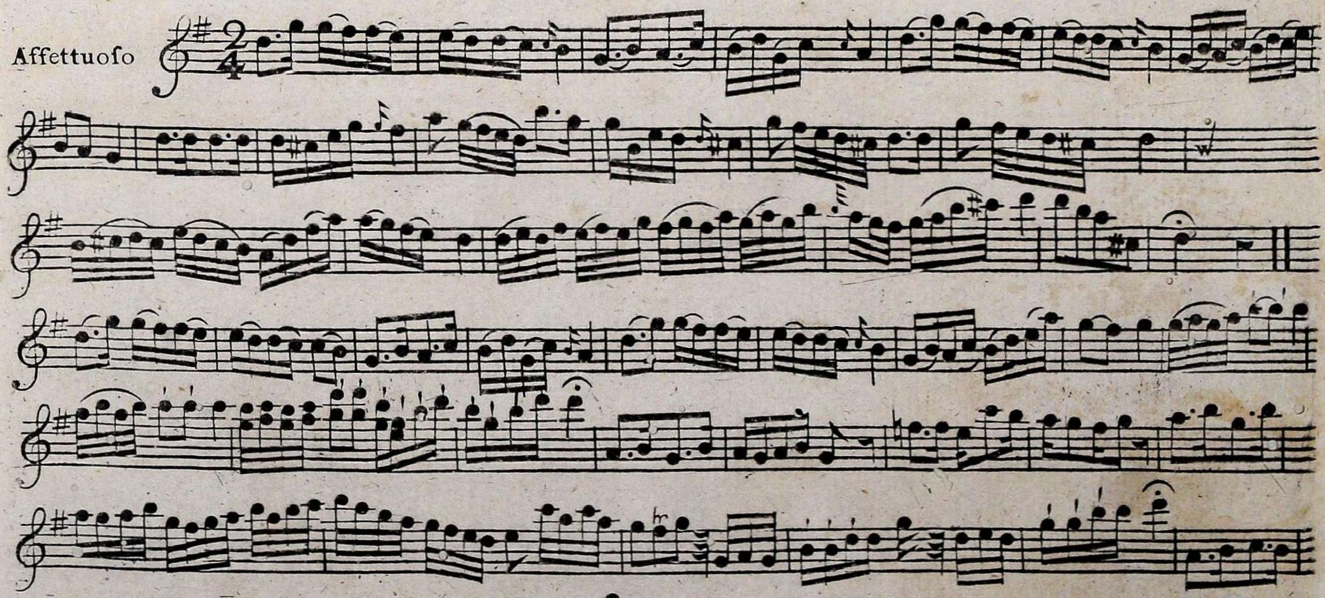
FLUTE



2nd.

Or where Beauty wanders with slow pensive mien
Cool Zephyrs to woo, while the Nights Silver Queen
Or the Lakes buoyant bosom resplendant is seen
In Ripples disdaining to move
Inviting should solitudes charms be the Theme
Your footsteps might lead to the margins extreme
Only gaze and you'll view in the pure glafsy stream
The angelic form of my Love.





For the GER: FLUTE or GUITAR.